Subject: Comment on the Settlement with Microsoft

I have followed the government action against the Microsoft Corporation since it began. When the settlement was finally reached, I was surprised and quite pleased with the method by which the matter was concluded.

This settlement which benefits school children is a wonderful idea. Further, I believe it's a thoughtful and very positive way to penalize an offender. We Americans recognize that there are very few priorities more important than our children's future. The penalty while costly to Microsoft, becomes a very rich blessing for the children ... wrapped inside of a valuable lesson about our laws.

I salute those of you in the Department of Justice who helped to craft this settlement. Please continue your fine and creative work.
